NOTICE TO THE READER

Uniformity in the spelling of geographical names is an evident necessity to all.

As the lead, in this regard, must come from the public services, the Quebec Geographic Board has thought it proper to publish a list of the geographical names mostly in usage, for the guidance of officers and employees of the Quebec Government.

This third report contains, alphabetically arranged, the list of official names, with a brief indication as to their origin, displayed in the following order:

- 1.—the divisions established for the purpose of representation in the Legislative Council;
- 2.—the electoral districts for the representation in the Legislative Assembly;
- 3.—the townships not organised as municipalities;
- 4.—cities;
- 5.—towns;
- 6.—villages erected as municipalities;
- 7.—rural municipalities;
- 8.—unorganised territories.

The Board sincerely hopes that this booklet will be a useful guide to every employee of the Administration and will help considerably in the endeavour to attain uniformity in the spelling of geographical names of this Province.

This report also contains the Rules respecting the geographical nomenclature as revised by the Board.

Names contained in this publication shall prevail over different appellations that may be given in previous reports.

RULES GOVERNING THE GEOGRAPHICAL NOMENCLATURE

1.—Maintain, whenever practicable, geographical denominations the priority of which is apparently established in authoritative publications.

2.—Restore to their primitive form all names which have been modified or altered, when such modification or alteration is not definitively adopted.

3.—Avoid giving the same spelling to similar names adopted under different forms to designate different geographical points.

4.—Avoid, insofar as possible, the use of more than one name to designate the same geographical locality or place.

5.—Whenever more than one name are used locally for the designation of a same place, maintain, if possible, the name first given; if not, choose the one best adapted to the site, taking its euphony into consideration.

6.—Avoid the use of generical terms (such as town, river, lake, bay, creek, mount, cape, point, etc.) to form part of the names to be given.

7.—Write in the text language used all generical terms (such as town, river, lake, bay, etc.) accompanying geographical denominations, except when it may lead to confusion, and avoid the use of capital initials in said generical terms unless they form part of the proper name. (Example: The Eastmain river flows into James bay.)

8.—Conserve the French orthography for geographical names of French origin, as well as the English for English origin names, except for old names known equally in both languages. (Example: Ile-Verte, Cap-à-l'Aigle, Mont-Laurier, as to French names; East Angus, Roxton Falls, New Glasgow, as to English names.)

Geographical names of foreign countries to be written in the same manner as they are in their respective countries, except when there are, in the English language, equivalents adopted generally.

9.—Spell French geographical names according to the French general rules, and likewise English names.

10.—French names composed of more than one word to be united by hyphens, except when separated by interjection marks or when preceded by the preposition de or an article as le, la, les. (Example: The parish of Cap-de-la-Madeleine, the village of Sainte-Anne-de-Bellevue, lake Ha! Ha!, lake De Montigny, lake La Chesnaye.)

11.—Use capital letters for all words forming essential part of the name. Omit them however: 1. for the conjunction and; 2. for the prepositions when not at the beginning of the name. (Example: the parish of Saint-Antoine-de-la-Rivière-du-Loup, united townships of Masson and Laviolette, the Sans-Bout river, county of l'Islet, town of l'Assomption, lake La Motte.)

12.—Use with every restriction geographical names formed of Indian words and discard whenever possible all such names too hard to spell or pronounce, or the signification of which is doubtful.

13.—Write by sound, in accordance with the English rules, all Indian words used in geographical denominations of the Province of Quebec, with the exception of those the spelling of which is established by long usage.

14.—In geographical names of the Province of Quebec which are formed from Indian words, avoid the use of k to accentuate the sound of c or qu; the use of oo for w or ou; the use of sh for ch; of g or n, at the termination of the words, for gue or ne.

15.—When pronouncing geographical names of the Province of Quebec formed of Indian words, sound the final n, pronounce the final g, express the sound che or sh similarly, and give a semi-vowel tone to ou, w and oo, except in cases where different pronunciation is already established by usage.
